Market Analysis

ICE Coffee prices erased early losses on Tuesday and closed higher on short-covering after Inmet, Brazil's meteorology institute, said that there is an increased chance for an El Nino event by year-end that could bring below-average precipitation and above-average temperatures to Brazil's coffee-growing areas in January. ICE September arabica coffee settled up 0.30 cents, or 0.33%, at 91.45 cents per lb. September robusta coffee settled up $5, or 0.39%, at $1,293 a tonne.
