BLACK PEPPER MARKET PRICES CONTINUED TO DECLINE IN VIETNAM

Black Pepper market price is continued to decline in Vietnam markets. Although prices are at 8 years high are fluctuating. Prices decreased some days ago and again increased. Now again decreasing. Global as well as Vietnam's production have been declined due to adverse climate affect. Farmers are not expanding cultivation as returns are not alternative and area under cultivation is decreasing in Vietnam. Due to lower cultivating area production would decline. Prices likely to increase again.
