MALAYSIAN PALM OIL LOWER

Malaysian palm oil lower and enters to the weekly lose on higher Inventroy stock and lower Chicago Soy oil futures. Chicago Soy oil prices rose by 1% . Malaysian palm oil futures lost 3.1% for the week. Stocks are expected to rreduce in coming days due to fall in production and rise in exports.

PULSES PRICES LIKELY TO DECLINE IN COMING MONTHS

Pulses availability in markets likely to improve in coming months due to several factors. Sowing of pulses are increasing over 50% as compare to the previous year, especially Tur, Urad. Availability of pulses from imports are also likely to increase. As sowing reports shows production likely to increase from new crop season, if there are hoarding pulses they are likely to come to the market in coming days. If availability increases prices likely to come down.
